NON-FINAL REJECTION

Response to Amendment

1. This action is responsive to the Amendment filed on 26 June 2006. Claims 1-17 have been previously cancelled. New claims 37-46 have been added. Claims 18-46 are pending in the application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 18-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,854,897 to Furumai et al.

Referring to claims 18-23, the Furumai et al. reference discloses a hub arrangement for mounting a light pipe to receive light, comprising: a rod hub (8) for mounting at least one light collection rod (16,62) for receiving light from a light source (26); a light pipe hub (12) for mounting at least one light pipe, with a plug and socket arrangement; the plug and socket arrangement including: a socket (12i,14b) in the light pipe hub for receiving a plug (80); and a plug for mounting a light pipe end that is to receive light; a fore end of the plug being receivable within the socket; the plug having a channel for receiving the light pipe through an aft end of the plug. See Fig. 29 of the reference. It is inherent that the light collection rod would be thermally isolating. The Furumai et al. reference discloses the rod hub includes a plate (14) with an aperture for receiving the rod and mounting the rod to the hub.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 29 and 30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 6,854,897 to Furumai et al.

Referring to claim 29, the Furumai et al. reference discloses all the limitations of the claimed invention, except the reference does not disclose the light pipe hub is made of plastic. Plastic is known within the art to be an inexpensive and durable material for forming components. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the light pipe hub from plastic, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Referring to claim 30, the Furumai et al. reference discloses all the limitations of the claimed invention, except the reference does not disclose the plug is made of metal. Metals are known within the art to be strong and highly machinable. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to form the plug from a metal, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 35-36 are allowed.
8. Claims 24-28, 31-34 and 37-46 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
